▶ Master of Education: PK-12 Educational Leadership

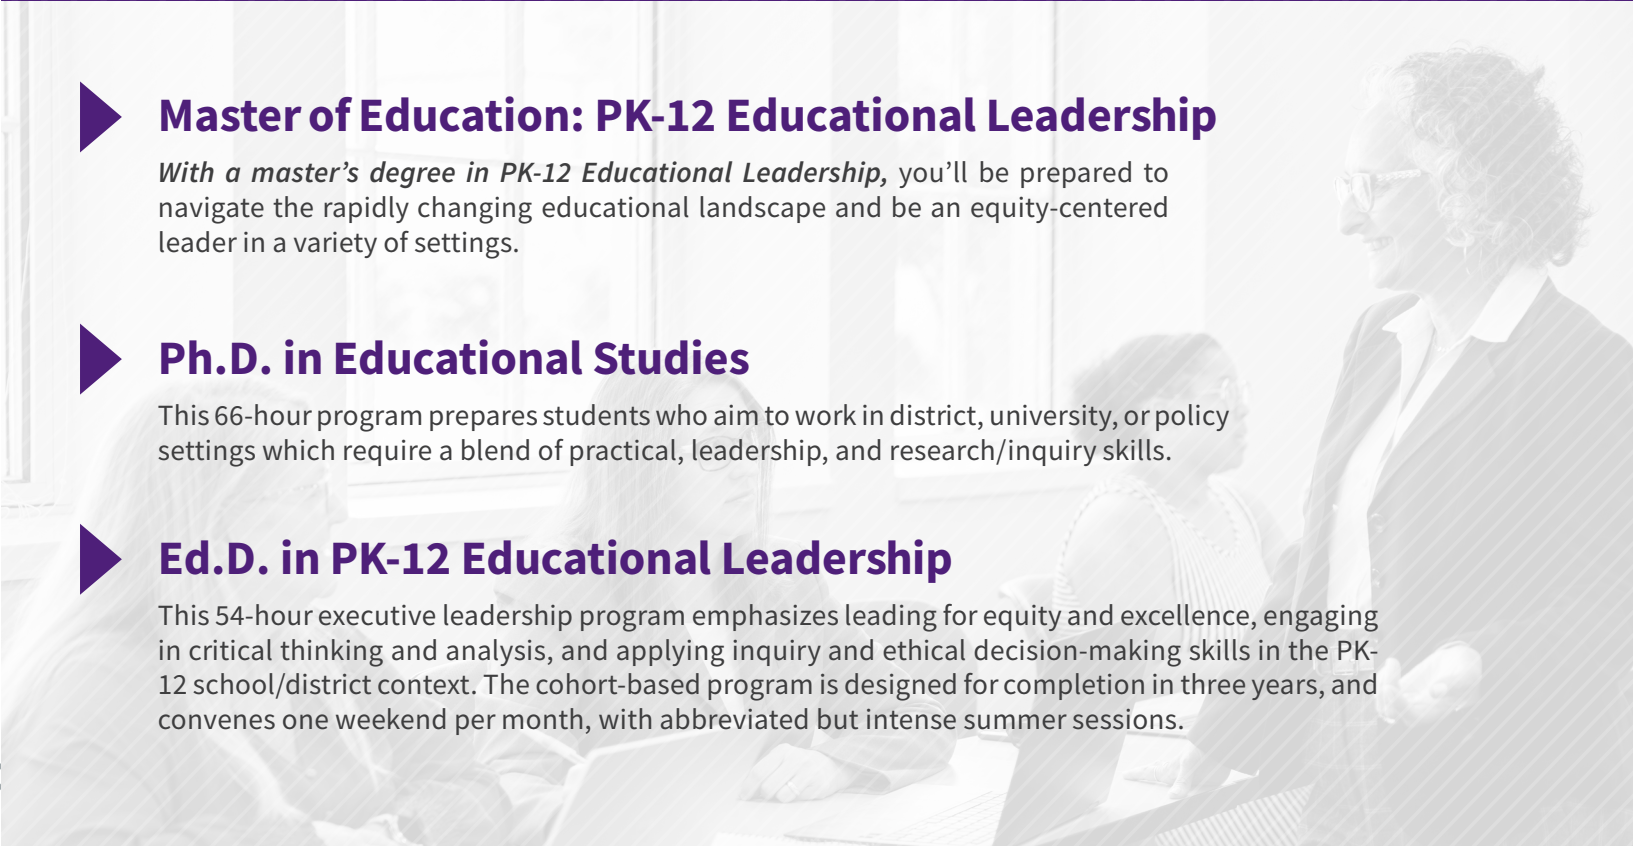

With a master's degree in PK-12 Educational Leadership, you'll be prepared to navigate the rapidly changing educational landscape and be an equity-centered leader in a variety of settings.

▶ Ph.D. in Educational Studies

This 66-hour program prepares students who aim to work in district, university, or policy settings which require a blend of practical, leadership, and research/inquiry skills.

▶ Ed.D. in PK-12 Educational Leadership

This 54-hour executive leadership program emphasizes leading for equity and excellence, engaging in critical thinking and analysis, and applying inquiry and ethical decision-making skills in the PK-12 school/district context. The cohort-based program is designed for completion in three years, and convenes one weekend per month, with abbreviated but intense summer sessions.

From Our Graduates...

“Attending TCU for my Master of Educational Leadership was one of the best decisions I have made. The experiences, which included conferences, shadowing successful private businesses, and interning in school environments allowed me to conceptualize the work of a principal. I have used many of the skills and knowledge that I gained from the program to help me further my career and impact students’ lives positively. I highly recommend engaging with TCU’s College of Education if you get the opportunity to do so.”

Josh Jenkins, M.Ed.

Principal, McAnally Middle School, Aledo, TX

“The Ed.D program at TCU has been a wonderful experience! It has provided me with many opportunities to grow as a school leader, build capacity within myself and others, connect with peers to build a network of support, and advocate for students even outside of the scope of my current campus.”

Jessica Ramos Jones, Ed.D.

Principal, Bridges Accelerated Learning Center, Colleyville, TX

“During my time in the MBA/Ph.D. in Educational Leadership program, many professors truly went above and beyond the classroom, supporting my education, but also my personal and professional aspirations. Through their mentorship and the program design, I was able to cater my degrees toward my future goals, becoming a better researcher, scholar, and advocate.”

Paige Tooley, MBA/Ph.D.

Austin, TX
